Subject: Microsoft is way out of bounds

I havenot seen any mention of Microsofts practise of forcing users of hotmail to their msn site with a window of 5 seconds to act. In my case I am thrown into msn.de the german microsoft site, I dont speak german and I have no interest in going to msn germany. i have used Hotmail for years but its the only site where it forces the next site ive seen except with MSN sites. You should stop these practises along with the ones mentioned in the press.
